

Net Neutrality as supported by Title II classification is of vital importance to me and my small business.

Having equal access and speed on the internet gives my small business a necessary equal footing to larger competitors. Net neutrality provides the platform for more competition in our economic system. The forces lined up against net neutrality have monopolistic intentions and motivations in their areas of business. Competition is good for the economy and freedom of speech. Net neutrality supports and encourages competition.

Net Neutrality when fully analyzed will generate a larger tax base. There is no socially defensible position to not support Net Neutrality as framed with Title II classification of the net.
